

You Ask for It: Conversations on the Giving Spectrum

Meet the Leaders

Louise -

Louise Westfall is the senior pastor of Central Presbyterian Church in Denver, Colorado. She received her MDiv from Princeton Theological Seminary and her DMin from San Francisco Theological Seminary. She has co-authored two Bible studies, and her dissertation, Listening Beyond Our Differences: Conversations about Abortion, was honored with a faculty prize. Louise was nurtured in the Presbyterian Church (USA) from birth, and believes the Church is a community of transformation. Faithful stewardship of resources grows from awareness of and trust in God's abundant grace. Louise is the mother of son Paul, an attorney in Washington DC and married to Claire. She is expecting her first grandchild in December. An ardent baseball fan, Louise once sang the National Anthem at a Cleveland Indians game.

Justin –

Justin Spurlock is the senior pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church in Highlands Ranch, Colorado. He received his M.Div from McCormick Theological Seminary and has an MA in Organizational Leadership, with additional certificates in Church Conflict Management and Religious Fundraising. Justin is a perpetual asker - one of the reasons he thrives in the ministry of stewardship - and finds that a good ask almost always takes a relationship, experience, idea, or organization to the next level. Justin lives in the Denver suburbs with his wife Sarah and son Cayson. He enjoys sipping bourbon, preferably outdoors while reading a good book. #### Sherry –

Sherry Kenney represents the Presbyterian Foundation in Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, and a little slice of Nebraska. She is a ruling elder at Central Presbyterian Church in Denver, where she has chaired the stewardship and endowment committees. She is a Certified Financial Planner, in practice for 40 years prior to joining the Foundation in 2013. She recently completed the Certificate in Ministry program at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. Sherry credits her parents and grandparents – all Presbyterian – with her faith formation around stewardship and generosity, and enthusiastically shares it with anyone who will listen. She is married to Andy and has two adult married children. sherry.kenney@presbyterianfoundation.org
